Additional Terms for 12-month Programmes (AI Founder & AI Builder)

The additional ground rules for the 12-month programmes of Remote Skills (AI Founder and AI Builder): how the instalments work, what happens if a payment fails, and what you may expect from us and from yourself.

Version 1.1 Last updated 29 September 2026

In short

A brief summary without legal status. The articles below prevail.

- AI Founder and AI Builder are a 12-month commitment: you pay the monthly rate agreed at your order × 12 months (including any premium period as stated on your order).
- We make everything available immediately: the instalments are a payment arrangement for the full amount, not a monthly subscription that you can stop along the way.
- If you miss an instalment and do not meet your obligation, the remaining amount becomes immediately due and additional costs may be charged.
- After the 12 months you choose: continue monthly (cancel any month), move on to the next programme, or go your own way.
- Results depend on your own effort. Only do this if you can carry it financially and if you are really going to get to work with it.

ARTICLE 1

What these terms apply to

These additional terms apply to the 12-month programmes of Remote Skills: AI Founder (the implementation programme) and AI Builder (the maintenance, deepening and growth programme), both with a term of 12 months. They equally apply to the AI Founder OS software subscription with monthly payment (a 12-month commitment), to AI Founder as an upgrade or at a personal rate, and to continuing after the AI Founder Box monthly (on your own, with live Q&As or with personal guidance) for subscriptions started from 11 September 2026. During the programme you get access to all modules, software tools, templates and working materials of the programme, plus the live coaching sessions that belong to your programme.

We deliberately choose to make everything available immediately, so all knowledge, tools and intellectual property, instead of releasing one module each month. That way you can work at your own pace, also when you are in a hurry. In return, your participation is a commitment for the entire programme.

ARTICLE 2

Payment and commitment

The investment for your programme amounts to the monthly rate agreed at your order × 12 months (including any premium period as stated on your order, unless a different rate was agreed in writing at registration). With your registration you enter into a payment obligation for the full amount; the monthly instalments are a payment arrangement, not a cancellable subscription.

> An honest word: only enter into this if you can carry the 12 instalments, also if earning it back goes slower than you hope. If you have doubts about that, do not start.

ARTICLE 3

If a payment fails

If you miss an instalment, we contact you first. If something is going on, do raise your hand straight away yourself as well, and we will look for a solution together.

If you subsequently do not meet your payment obligation, the following applies:

- the remaining amount of the programme becomes immediately due;
- reasonable additional costs may be charged on, such as chargeback, collection and administration costs;

- your access to the platform and the tools may be paused until the payment has been restored.

Nobody is waiting for this, we are not either. These agreements exist so that we can keep offering the programme affordably in instalments to people who do not want to or cannot pay in one go.

ARTICLE 4

Honest expectations

Every month we do our best to give you something you can build and earn back with. But the result depends to an important extent on your own effort. There is no income or results guarantee; see also our income disclaimer.

Nothing in this programme is financial advice. You decide for yourself, sensibly and fitting your situation, whether this investment suits you.

ARTICLE 5

Licence and intellectual property

During your participation you receive a personal right of use to the tools, templates, systems and materials of the programme, including the licence and resale rights that belong to the programme. The intellectual property remains with Remote Skills.

If the programme is terminated because you do not meet your payment obligation, the right of use lapses. The payment obligation under articles 2 and 3 continues to exist.

ARTICLE 6

After the 12 months

When the 12 months have ended, your commitment ends. You then choose what you do:

- Continue monthly. If you do nothing, your subscription continues at the monthly rate applicable at that time, and from that moment you can cancel any month. No new 12-month commitment starts.
- Move on to the next programme that suits you. We settle what is needed, so you never pay twice.
- Go your own way. Indicate in your account (Account, Subscription) or via info@remoteskills.nl that you want to stop. You can do this at any moment within the 12 months, including the last month; there is no notice period. Your programme then stops on the end date.

ARTICLE 7

Other

In addition to these additional terms, the terms and conditions and the platform terms continue to apply in full. In the event of conflict, these additional terms prevail as regards the 12-month programmes AI Founder and AI Builder.
