- Communication: messages, support questions, content reports and correspondence with our team.
- Technical and usage data: IP address, device and browser information, and how you use our website and platforms. For our own visit measurement we use a random visitor code and the source of your visit (such as the campaign or the partner link), without IP address.

ARTICLE 3

How we obtain your data

We obtain your data in three ways: directly from you (upon registration, purchase, intake or contact), automatically when you use our website or platforms (via cookies and similar technologies), and sometimes via third parties, for example when you sign up via an ad or a partner.

Where we process on the basis of consent, you can withdraw it at any time. This does not affect processing that has already taken place.

ARTICLE 5

Who we share your data with

We never sell your data. We only share it with service providers that help us deliver our service, and only to the extent necessary. Where required, we conclude a data processing agreement with these parties. Among others, we work with:

- Platform, database and storage: Supabase, for your account, the data in the platform and the files you upload. Hosted in the EU region.
- Hosting of the website and the platform: Vercel, for delivering our pages and application.
- DNS, security and video streaming: Cloudflare, to keep our domains available and secure and to deliver video.
- Payments and invoicing: Stripe, for payments, subscriptions and billing data.
- Email from the platform: Resend, for confirmations, invoices, newsletters and messages we send you.
- AI functionality: Anthropic (Claude) for the AI tools in the platform, and Google (Gemini) for transcription, speech to text and imagery among other things.
- Integrations you activate yourself: Google (Gmail and Google Calendar), only when you switch that integration on and only for the features you give permission for. You can disconnect it again at any time.
- Voice: ElevenLabs, for the voice assistant and text to speech in the platform.
- CRM, funnels and marketing automation: the US software supplier of the CRM and marketing platform on which our Fullstack AI Studio runs. Your contact details and sign-ups end up there, as well as the data you put into the Fullstack AI Studio yourself. The name of this supplier is in the list of sub-processors in our Data Processing Agreement.
- Collaboration, email and documents: Google Workspace, our own office environment.
- Live sessions, webinars and recordings: Zoom, for our live coaching and the recordings of it.
- Video hosting: Wistia, for part of the videos on our marketing pages.
- Retrieving public company and website data: Firecrawl, Exa and Apify, only when you use the prospect and outreach tools yourself.
- Advertising and measurement: Meta, on our own marketing pages (the Meta Pixel) and through our server (the Conversions API), to measure and improve which ads work. We do not use the Meta Pixel inside the platform itself. Article 10 explains which data is sent.

If we start working with a new or different supplier, we update this list. The current list of sub-processors and their role is also included in our Data Processing Agreement.

In addition, we may share data where we are legally required to do so, or where necessary to protect our rights or those of others.

If you are a business customer and you process data of your own clients or prospects through our platform, you are the controller for that data and we are the processor. For that data our Data Processing Agreement applies, which also contains the current list of sub-processors.

ARTICLE 6

Transfers outside the EEA

Some of our service providers are located outside the European Economic Area, including in the United States. Where we transfer data outside the EEA, we ensure appropriate safeguards, such as the European Commission's Standard Contractual Clauses or transfers to parties covered by a valid adequacy framework.

Want to know which safeguard applies to a specific transfer? Contact us and we will explain.

ARTICLE 7

How long we keep your data

We do not keep your data longer than necessary for the purposes for which we collected it. We keep your account and participation data for the duration of your participation and a reasonable period afterwards. We keep invoicing and administrative data for as long as legally required. We keep your consents for as long as the agreement runs and afterwards for as long as a dispute about it could arise. We keep the code of our visit measurement for at most one year. Data we process on the basis of consent is kept until you withdraw that consent.

ARTICLE 8

How we protect your data

We take appropriate technical and organizational measures to protect your data against loss and unlawful use, such as access restrictions, encrypted connections and carefully selected suppliers. No system is entirely risk-free, but we do everything we can to keep your data safe.

ARTICLE 9

AI, transparency and automated processing

Within our platforms we use AI tools that help you with, for example, strategy, content and building assets. The data you enter into these tools is processed to give you an answer or result. We do not use this AI to make automated decisions that have legal effects for you or similarly significantly affect you.

AI transparency

We believe you should know when you are dealing with AI. So we make it visible: AI components are recognisable as such in the platform, and where an AI answers on our behalf, it says so. You never speak to an AI here while believing it is a human. If we use a voice created or cloned by AI, or a digital version of a real person, we say so.

The following parts work with AI:

- Max AI and the coaches, mentors and agents in the platform: your questions, your conversation history and the context you add yourself are sent to an AI model to produce an answer.
- The chatbots on our website and in the platform: they answer questions automatically and hand over to a human as soon as that is better.
- The voice assistant: spoken questions are converted to text and answered by an AI voice.
- The generation tools, such as the growth plan, the kit, content, quotes, reports and imagery: they create texts and images based on what you enter.
- Transcription and summaries of sessions and recordings.

AI output may contain errors or be incomplete. Treat it as work from an assistant: useful as a starting point, but check it before you rely on it, certainly for communication to clients, calculations, or legal and financial decisions. Our AI does not give legal, tax, medical or financial advice.

We do not use the data you enter into these tools to train our own AI models. Which AI suppliers we engage is set out in article 5.

ARTICLE 10

Cookies and similar technologies

Our website uses cookies and similar technologies: functional cookies needed to make the site work, and analytics and marketing cookies to improve our site and measure our advertising. You can read the details in our Cookie Statement.

Ad measurement through Meta

On our public marketing pages we use the Meta Pixel, and through our server Meta's Conversions API, to measure and improve which ads work. For this, the following data is sent to Meta Platforms Ireland Limited: your email address in hashed (unreadable) form, only when you sign up or buy something; the click ID of the ad you clicked and the pixel's browser ID; your IP address; your user agent (browser and device data); and the page where it happens. We do this on the basis of our legitimate interest: marketing our own services. We do not show a cookie notice for this.

Do not want this? You can always object: adjust your ad preferences at Meta, delete or block the cookies in your browser, or email us at info@remoteskills.nl.

ARTICLE 11

- Access: request which data we process about you.
- Rectification: have incorrect data corrected.

- Restriction: have processing restricted.
- Objection: object to processing based on legitimate interest, and to direct marketing.
- Portability: receive your data in a common format or have it transferred.
- Withdrawing consent: withdraw previously given consent at any time.

Additional information for California residents

Remote Skills, LLC is established in the United States. If you live in California, this paragraph is for you. It is informational: based on our size and revenue we currently fall below the thresholds of the California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA and CPRA). We still think it is only fair to tell you where you stand.

We apply the same level of protection to everyone, wherever you live. In practice that means rights comparable to those in article 11:

- Know what we collect: which categories of personal data we collect, what we use them for and with which categories of recipients we share them. That is set out in articles 2 to 5.

- Access: request a copy of the data we hold about you.
- Deletion: have your data erased, except what we are legally required to keep.
- Correction: have inaccurate data corrected.
- No discrimination: you do not get a lesser service or a different price for using any of these rights.

We do not sell your personal data. We do use the Meta Pixel and the Conversions API on our marketing pages to measure and improve our advertising (see article 10). You can always object to that: through your ad preferences at Meta, by blocking the cookies in your browser or by emailing info@remoteskills.nl. You can read more in our Cookie Statement.

Would you like to exercise one of these rights, or have someone do so on your behalf? Send a message to info@remoteskills.nl. We first verify that the request really comes from you, and then respond as quickly as is reasonably possible.

We handle your data with care, so you can focus on what really matters: building a successful AI business.
